Floods Follow Flurry Of Deadly Tornadoes In South West Storm Belt; Silverton Death Toll Is Set At 26

BULLETIN

OKLAHOMA CITY (UP). — New rains of up to seven inches pounded Oklahoma Thursday night where violent weather has already claimed eight lives and forced hundreds to leave their homes for higher ground.

Water was receding in the Enid and Dover area, where an estimated 500 persons were evacuated Thursday, but the weather bureau forecast the worst floods in history further downstream on the same Cimarron watershed.

Floods followed a flurry of deadly tornadoes in the Southwest storm belt today, wreaking a new round of destruction through parts of Texas, Kansas and Oklahoma.

A United Press count showed at least 26 persons killed in violent weather during the past two days. Twenty of the victims were were found in the tornado-smashed debris of Silverton, Tex.

Nine of the 80 persons injured in the Silverton twister Wednesday night remained in critical condition. Twenty - five homes were destroyed and 30 others were damaged.

Floodwaters in the wake of five to seven-inch rains rolled through Kansas and Oklahoma, killing a 14 - year - old boy who drowned Thursday night while swimming in a flood-swollen creek in southeast Wichita.

Emporia and Wichita, Kan., were the largest cities menaced by floods.

Weathermen warned the Neosho River will crest at two to four feet above flood stage at Emporia today.

DIKES STRENGTHENED.

At Wichita, Air Force personnel and Kansas national guardsmen labored throughout the night sandbagging the dikes along the Little Arkansas River. The river is expected to crest at noon, one foot above flood stage.

Five persons died and more than 500 persons were driven from their homes in Oklahoma where the Cimmaron River roared on its worst rampage in history.

Enid and Dover, Okla., looked like "one big lake" from the air Thursday, with floodwaters ranging up to eight and 10 feet deep. The floods hit on the heels of a 13½-inch rainfall.

Flood damage to the wheat crop along in Oklahoma was expected to amount into the millions of dollars. The area only last month was in the grip of a marathon drought.

Funnel clouds accompanied the thundestorms in Kansas and Oklahoma today and spread into parts of the Mississippi Valley. A twister ripped Dudenville, Mo., causing some property damage but no casualties.

TEST POSTPONED.

Unfavorable weather forced the Atomic Energy Commission to postpone its nuclear test near Las Vegas, Nev., for a second straight day. The AEC rescheduled the thet for Saturday morning.

While thunderstorms whipped the Plains, Cheyenne, Wyo., dug out from a May snowstorm that left seven inches on the ground early today. Two inches of snow blanketed Laramie, Wyo., and one inch was reported at Denver.

Up to 14 inches of snow buried sections of southeast Wyoming Weathermen said scattered snows will continue today in the mountains of Wyoming, Colorado and northern New Mexico.

Snow and fog grounded planes at Rawlings, Wyo., in the search for a private plane missing since last Saturday. It carried a Duluth, Minn., couple.

MORE THUNDERSTORMS.

More thunderstorms were predicted for Texas today, while the survivors of the Silverton tornado went about burying their 20 dead and clearing up the wreckage.

Congressman Walter Rogers of Pampa and Civil Defense official William Rosch were expected in Silverton later today to see what the damage is and what can be done to help the homeless.

In addition to the dead at Silverton, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Puckett was killed and her two children injured, possibly by the same tornado Wednesday night in the Lone Star community, near Lockney.

Today's weather foercast calls for scattered thundershowers over the state west of the Pecos River, with more numerous thundershowers in the Panhandle and South Plains.

A thunderstorm was reported in

VA Hospital Employes Given Special Awards

Jewett L. Hunter and Mrs. Oneida P. Rominger of the local Veterans Administration Hospital, at the regular staff meeting, Tuesday, May 14, received cash awards and certificates in recognition of a sustrained superior performance in their duties. The presentation was made by Dr. Walter H. Buckholts, Manager of the Hospital.

Mr. Hunter resides at 1805 West Street and is a graduate of Boyd High and North Texas State College. He has been employed at the VA Hospital since 1946 and presently is Chief of the Corrective Therapy Section of the Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation Service. He lettered in baseball while in high school and college and for many years was a star on the VA Hospital baseball team and local semipro clubs.

Mrs. Rominger resides at 1418 North Bradley Street. She graduated from Denison High School, Denison, Texas. During World War II, she was a member of the WAC and served with it overseas. She has been employed in the Registrar Division of the local hospital since April 15, 1946, except for a four month tour of duty at the VA Hospital, Big Spring, Texas.

Dr. Buckholts congratulated the employees and expressed the management's appreciation for their efficient and courteous performance of duties which has been so outstanding for so long a time. He told them it was superior performance as theirs that make possible the high standard of service the veteran receives at his hospital.

Egypt Stands Pat On Suez Canal Operation

By WALTER LOGAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Egypt stiffened its determination today to run the Suez Canal on its own terms and informed sources in Cairo said Anglo-French pressure in the forthcoming U. N. Security Council debate would not change its stand.

Egyptian sources said the country was optimistic that outcome of the debate would not weaken Egypt's authority over the canal. They said shipping companies using the canal have made no complaint.

Egyptian newspapers attacked President Eisenhower for the second day for saying Israel has a right to send a test ship through the canal.

The government newspaper Al Goumhouria said "any person endowed with common sense will realize that the words 'rights, security and justice' by Eisenhower constitute a screen vainly designed to conceal American policy aimed at sowing the seeds of unrest among the Arabs for the sake of both imperialism and zionism."

ISRAELI WILL WAIT.

An Israeli government spokesman said in Jerusalem that Israel would wait until after the U.N. debate before decided whether to send a ship through the canal to test the Egyptian boycott of Israeli shipping.

The Norwegian freighter Mars waited at Haifa, loaded with 4,500

Union Called For 'Immediate Action'

By HERBERT FOSTER
And JOHN A. GOLDSMITH
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP).—Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) of the Senate Rackets Committee called today for "immediate action" by the Teamsters Union to decide on dumping Dave Beck as president.

McClellan, who angrily dismissed the portly Teamster president from the witness chair Thursday with a blast at his "rascality," told newsmen he believes Beck has "flagrantly betrayed" the trust union members reposed in him.

The committee was through with Beck, at least for the time being, after charging he misused his position in 52 ways for personal profit and "took, not borrowed" more than $300,000 in union funds.

Beck, in refusing to answer the charges, ran his total of Fifth Amendent pleas before the committee to more than 200.

GESSERT DUE TO TESTIFY.

In tidying up the case the committee planned public questioning of Norman Gessert, possibly today. Gessert, a cousin of Mrs. Beck, was missing for weeks until a U.S. marshal ran him down in an automobile chase in Ellensburg, Wash. He was hauled before the committee Thursday but was granted a reprieve to confer with the attorney he had just hired.

Beck told reporters Thursday he "positively" would not resign and still plans to run for re-election at the Teamsters convention next September.

In answer to another question, however, Beck said he would give "serious consideration" to any request by the Teamsters executive board that he resign for the good of the union.

Such a move is reported stirring among Beck's top subordinates. Beck said he never heard of it.

TELLS OF PAYMENTS.

The beef union boss ysaid Thursday he had repaid $100,000 to his union within the last two weeks. That would make $370,000 he has put back in the till. Beck claims he only borrowed the money. The committee has charged Beckt stole more than $322,000 from Teamster treasuries and called the money a loan only when he got into income tax troube.

Dope Available To Texas Convicts Who Have Money

TYLER, Tex. (UP).—Narcotics are available to Texas convicts "who have the money" according to an addicted ex-convict.

R. C. Maulden, a 23-year-old Tyler Negro, said he took drugs during a four-year prison stretch and they were available to "anyone who had the money."

Malden made his revelations while being questioned by District Judge Otis T. Dunagan, before whom he pleaded to a charge of possession of a hypodermic syringe in violation of state law.

Judge Dunagan sentenced him to five years in the penitentiary.

The judge described Maulden's statement concerning use of narcotics in the state prison as "shocking." He said, "this situation should be investigated immediately by proper authorities."

SMUGGED IN.

"How long had you been on narcotics?" Judge Dunagan asked Maulden.

"About four years," he replied.

"Then you got it while you were in the penitentiary?"

"Yes," Maulden answered.

"How did you get hold of it?" Judge Dunagan asked.

"It was smuggled in. Anybody could get it if he had the money," Maulden said.

43 MONTHS.

Maulden said he spent the first 18 of 43 months in prison at the Central Unit farm at Sugarland in Fort Bend county and six months at Ramsey farm at Otey in Brazoria county.

Heroin and other drugs were purchased from other prisoners there, Maulden said.

4. Ordered equipment for mosquito control in the City.
5. Referred routine street repair complaints to Road and Bridge Department.

Reunion Planned By Hospital School Of Nursing Alumni

A reunion is being planned for all graduates and friends of the City Hospital School of Nursing on June 1, at 4 p. m. in Finch Park, McKinney. It has been about ten years since the school of nursing was terminated and some 85 professional nurses were graduated in the years of the school's duration. This is the first reunion which has been planned.

Mrs. Arteile George Stiff, 2344 Elmira Street, Muskogee, Okla., announces the reunion and urges all members of the Alumni and their families to attend and bring a basket lunch.

Dr. Robinson To Address Allen Graduating Class

Dr. H. E. Robinson, of Austin, assistant director of special services of the Texas Educational Agency, will bring the address to graduates of the Allen High School tonight. He has been with the State Department of Education for a number of years, having been former Deputy State Superintendent and former Director of Equalization for the department.

When he was a young man he taught at Lovejoy and Higgins in this county, and later served as superintendent of public schools at Ponder and Detroit, Texas.

Dr. Robinson is the brother of Mrs. Mark Russell of McKinney and has a host of other relatives residing in the county.

The Allen Commencement exercises will be held in the High School auditorium there at 8 o'clock tonight.

FIRE DESTROYS CHURCH

HOUSTON (UP). — A spectacular fire, brief but intense, gutted the Faith Tabernacle Church of God in Christ Tuesday night as hundreds of spectators watched. Damage was estimated at $20,000.

Benson's Farm Program Headed For More Trouble

WASHINGTON (UP).—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson's farm program today appeared to be in for further trouble in the House, just as things began looking up in the Senate.

Chairman Harold D. Cooley (D-N.C.) of the House Agriculture Committee said Congress will turn down Benson's request for authority to reduce price supports on basic crops.

Cooley predicted the Benson proposal would not win support of a majority of committee Republicans, much less Democratic members.

The House Wednesday killed the main provisions of the administration's billion dollar soil bank plan by ordering a halt to the "acreage reserve" plan at the end of this year.

Benson denounced the action as "false economy" and looked to the Senate to restore the program. Key senators indicated they opposed the House move and were in favor of giving the program a longer chance to prove its worth.

Members of Cooley's committee generally agreed on the need for overhauling the farm program which has resulted in tight production controls on such major export crops as cotton, wheat and rice.

Joint Committee Ironing Out Insurance Bill

AUSTIN (UP). — A 10-man joint conference committee today was attempting to iron out House and Senate differences in Gov. Price Daniel's Insurance Commission reorganization bill.

Reps. R. H. Cory of Victoria, Wesley Roberts of Lamesa, Scott McDonald of Fort Worth, Marshall Bell of San Antonio and Jack Welch of Marlin were the House members appointed to the committee.

McDonald, Roberts and Welch voted against the bill when it passed the House May 2.

Sens. Williams S. Fly of Victoria, Floyd Bradshaw of Weatherford, Wardlow Lane of Center, George Parkhouse of Dallas and Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo represent the Senate.

The five senators voted against accepting House amendments to the bill. The chief point of disagreement was whether the new State Board of Insurance should be full-time, as the House version approved, or part-time as provided for in the Senate bill.

KILLED IN CRASH

AUSTIN (UP).—The Department of Public Safety reported Thursday night a private 55 Super Cub aircraft crashed about one and a half miles west of Eagle Lake in South Texas, killing the pilot, identified as Carl Douglas Greer, 27, of Brownfield. DPS said Justice of the Peace Max Conner returned a verdict of accidenatl death.

CONFESSION OF FAILURE

THE SWEEPING economic reorganization plan just announced by Communist party leader Nikita Khrushchev stands as overwhelming testimony to the basic weaknesses in the Russian system.

No one denies that by the full force of his dictator's power the late Joseph Stalin succeeded in transforming a peasont agricultural economy into a mighty industrial nation.

But this development always was marred by accompanying serious failures. The Kremlin never has mastered the secret of building farm production to satisfactory levels. Most of the time it has never even tried to provide Russia's huge population with the barest minimum needs in consumer goods.

At all times, too. the Soviet Communist economy was grossly wasteful of manpower and materials. The great centralized bureaucracy which ran the country's industrial enterprises was a bulwark of inefficiency, of compounded error and concealed failure.

In recent years these weaknesses have become more pressing. Manpower is short. Production goals in major fields seem painfully distant. The mistakes of the bureaucrats shout for attention. (One ministry builds a 5,000 ton iron casting plant in Leningrad, though another with 8,000 tons excess capacity already is operated there by another ministry.)

So now the Kremlin bosses have decided on what may be the most drastic reorganizational step ever taken since the Communist era began: the decentralization of the Soviet economy.

Eight of the 30 centralized economic ministries will be retained, but the rest of the economy will soon be governed by 92 regional councils operating in areas with natural ecoonmic ties.

This is the Kremlin's blunt acknowledgement that the great bureaucratic iceberg is an economic monstrosity that can and will block its aims of further broad growth in competition with America. It is a confession of the inherent weaknesses of the planned economy managed from a single central source.

Unhappily for the Rusians, they can have no assurance that what they now propose to undertake will work well for them, either.

The vast reshuffling of personnel, the setting up of countless new procedures, the creation of new networks of responsibilities, all these could bring confusion worse than today's difficulties.

And if decentralization should work, it might work too well. Local and regional control, decisions made all over the map, are the natural destroyers of the dictator's power. The Kremlin may find that it cannot have its cake and eat it, too.

Finance Groups Probe Two Haystacks For Same Needle

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA).—President Eisenhower's State of the Union message asked Congress for a 10-man commission to make a two-year study of the U. S. financial system.

What he is getting instead is a critical, double-barreled congressional investigation of his own administartion's tight-money and budget policies.

On the one hand, the Senate Finance Committee under Sen. Harry F. Byrad (D-Va.) will probe monetary policy. It will have a look at government revenues, management of the national debt, interest rates and their effect on private business credit.

The Byrd Committee hasn't even named its chief counsel as yet. Hearing date won't be set until after a staff has been assembled and a program laid out. But the committee hopes to report on the one-shot investigation in January.

On the other hand, a joint Senate-House economic subcommittee under Rep. Wilbur D. Mills (D-Ark) will make a study of government fiscal policies as they relate to U. S. budget developments and the general economic outlook.

It has scheduled five days of expert testimony in panel hearings June 3-7. There will be two days for Budget Director Percival F. Brundage. Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey and Federal Reserve Board Chairman Williac McC. Martin, June 13-14.

The Mills Committee will report first before Congress adjourns.

THE TWO COMMITTEES are really looking for the same needle in two different haystacks.

As a matter of fact, the Byrd Committee, which normally handles taxation and national debt matters will be considerable poaching in the fields of Sen. J. William Fulbright's Committee on Banking and Currency. This group handles credit and interest rate matters.

Most of the testimony before the Byrd and Mills committees will be over the heads of people to whom high finance is Greek. Economists, monetary and fiscal experts have always differed on what policies to follow There are no sure answers.

The results affect the pocketbooks of all who pay taxes, borrow money or crab about the government. Nobody is witout interest in the subject.

The Mills Committee probe will be the latest chapter in a study of monetary, credit and fiscal policies and that had been going on for 10 years.

In 1946, the so-called Full Employment Act gave the Joint Congressional Economic Committee a continuing responsibility to avise on policies to promote steady economic growth and in 1949 a joint subcommittee under Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) made an exhaustive study of "Monetary, Credit and Fiscal Policies."

IN 1952 ANOTHER Joint Economic subcommittee under Rep. Wright Patman (D-Tex.) made a study of "Monetary Policy and the Management of the Public Debt."

In 1955, still another Joint Economic subcommittee under Representative Mills made two studies of government tax policies.

At the end of 1955 and in early 1956 a Joint Economic subcommittee under Patman took a look at differences between Secretary Humphrey and Chairman Martin over the Federal Reserve Board's increase of discount rates charged to its member banks.

In a sense, the Byrd and Mills investigations will be going over the same old ground. But economists point out that business conditions are constanly changing and that they require continuous study.

CHEWING THE QUID... With DOC QUIGG

By DOC QUIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP).—It is well known that a man's home is his castle. Now he can have an air castle. Home was never like this.

This abode is not of the stuff that dreams are made on. It's for real. The basis structural opponent is just plain atmosphere

Far from being a dream, the so-called "air house" is a solid well . . . fairly solid reality built of an interior mass of low-pressure air, courtes of two yair conditioning units; an igloo-shape covering of vinyl-coated nlon fabric, courtesy of U.S Rubber Co.; brainwork, courtesy of that old demon of international architecture, Frank Lloyd Wright.

There is no record that anybody is living, yet, in one of the things. I walked through one of them—a huge two-roomer—at an exhibition here and watched one of them being deflated a man merely unzipped a doorway and let the air whoosh slowly out, as it from a big balloon.

REVOLVING DOOR.

It may have been my imagination, but I though my ears popped just slightly, as they do with a minor change of pressure in an airplane, when I walked through the revolving door. With that kind of door, incidentally, there isn't much chance of losing any great gulp of air and having your house billow down around you.

The two rooms looked like two tremendous inverted cups, connected by a small passageway. Inflated by the air conditioners, they were sturdily erect and purportedly able to resist strong winds and snow loads. The domes were anchored to the ground by an encircling base tube filled with water. There were no metal or wood supports anywhere.

The interior, of course, was filled with evpensive exhibition-type carpets, furniture, and decorations. In the middle of the larger dome there was an imitation fireplace with a flue running almost to the ceiling.

◆ ◆ ◆

GOOD QUESTION.

Outside, a man connected with the exhibit was asked: "It that supposed to be a fireplace and flue in there?" He said it was. "Well, what happens to a real flue—wouldn't the air pressure go up it?"

"That's a good question," said the man, grinning. "You'd have a real roaring fire in the fireplace."

Presumably, however, you would have air conditioners that blew both hot and cold, thus providing heat in winter. Those on the demonstration house were automatically regulated to turn on when the pressure got below a certain point.

"There is one man, up in Massachusetts," the man said, "who has put one over his outdoor swimming pool and now he swims all year around. However, there's one expense problem."

What's that?

"Costs him a buck an hour to keep the pool water warm in winter."

• WHAT OTHERS SAY

SOME FARMERS GYP SOIL BANK; PROGRAM NEEDS CLOSE WATCH

One of the election year specials passed by Congress in the last session was the soil bank program. Under this law money is paid to farmers if they don't grow crops which we already have in surplus amounts.

Now a House Agriculture Appropriations subcommittee has found that some farmers have been rifling the bank. Of course, this is a bank that doesn't get too excited over losses. It was created with the idea of giving away money. To date it has been pretty successful. Soil bank payments of aproimatxely $452,000,000 have been made.

Some of this money was given to farmers who agreed not to grow crops, the House investigators found, and then the farmers collected federal insurance for crop failure on the same land. In other instances farmers were paid for not planting corn even though it would have been illegal for them to grow corn because of acreage and crop restrictions.

In a backhanded way the Department of Agriculture has blamed these incidents on Congress. The bureaucrats say the law was passed so late in the season last year that there was a rush to get it into effect. The result, the officials say: Some unusual payments were undoubtedly made.

As far back as 1948 there have been complaints in Congress about the administration of the agricultural giveaway programs. But the officials in the department would have everybody relax now because they say these slips in the soil bank "won't happen again."

When the program was passed, it was hoped it would reduce the over all costs of the farm program and prove to be a more satisfactory approach than high, rigid price supports. The abuses which have already cropped up should serve as a warning to Congress to keep a watchful eye on the administration of the plan.—Houston Chronicle.

The J. W. Webb (East Ward) P-TA is meeting Thursday afternoon. Mrs. E. C. Meador is president; Mrs. Willie Mae Majors, vice president and Mrs. T. G. Snider, secretary-treasurer.

Malcolm Walters won the prize for the longest drive of 235 yards at Tully B. Lucas' driving range. Chuck Hitchcock was second.

Miss Fannie Waddill is making extensive improvements on her home at the corner of North Church and West Lamar Streets.

Q's And A's

Q—What is the ductility of a metal?

A—It is that property that certain metals have of being pliable enough to be pulled into a very thin wire without breaking.

Q—Is Paraguay a bilingual country?

A—Yes, Spanish is the official language, but Guarani is also spoken.

Q—On what dates does National Day fall?

A—National Day, a holiday rarely celebrated in the United States any longer, falls on April 30. George Washington was inaugurated as the nation's first president on April 30, 1789.

BASEBALL

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer

It's a slugger's era but those long-suffering pitchers have their days and nights, too. And a few more feats like those of Thursday will have the hitters asking who took the rabbit out of the lively ball:

—Bob Turley, a last - minute replacement for Whitey Ford, pitched a four-hitter and started the season's first triple play to give the New York Yankees a 3-0 victory over the Kansas City Athletics.

—Sandy Koufax, 21-year-old bonus whiz, equalled the season's single game high on 13 strikeouts and yielded only four hits in powering the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 3-2 decision over the Chicago Cubs.

—Lindy McDaniel, 21-year-old St. Louis Cardinal bonus boy, also flipped a four-hitter and gained his first major league shutout with a 5-0 decision over the Philadelphia Phillies.

—Bob Friend, scored his first victory since April 28, scattered seven hits in pitching the Pittsburg Pirates to a 2-1 win over the Milwaukee Braves.

◆ ◆ ◆

WILLIAMS FANS THRICE.

—Jim Bunning struck out Ted Williams three times and hurled a five-hitter as the Detroit Tigers beat the Boston Red Sox 2-1.

—Billy Pierce yielded three homers but had an eight - hitter for his fifth win in the Chicago White Sox' 8-3 triumph over the Washington Senators.

Fine pitching was also dominant in the other two games — both of which went 10 innings.

The Cincinnati Redlegs, taking over undisputed possession of first place in the National League, shaded the New York Giants, 3-2, and the Cleveland Indians beat out the Baltimore Orioles, 4-3.

Turley struck out seven and walked five in winning his first game of the year as Mickey Mantle got his sixth homer. Turley grabbed Alex Kellner's pop bunt after walking two batters in the second to start the triple killing.

Koufax extended the Cub's home losing streak to eight. Cubs' pitchers Moe Drabowsky and Turk Lown fanned 10 Dodgers the two-team t total of 23 strikeouts equalling the National League record. Duke Snider homered in the sixth.

Wally Moon tripled home two runs in a four-run Cardinal fourth inning and McDaniel did the rest as no Philadelphia base runner reached third.

◆ ◆ ◆

BRAVES LOSE LEAGUE LEAD

The Pirates knocked Milwaukee out of first place when Friend survived a ninth-inning rally to win his third game. Ed Mathews homered to open the ninth and Friend yielded three more hits before he finally retired the side Roberto Clemente homered for the Pirates.

Frank Bolling's home run got Detroit off in front in the first inning. Williams doubled and scored the Red Sox' run in the ninth but his average dipped to .269.

Bubba Phillips smashed five stright hits, including a homer and triple as the White Sox scored their fifth stright win and held first place in the American League by a half game. Two home runs by Roy Sievers and one by Jim Lemon produced Washington's runs.

Frank Robinson singled home Wally Post with two out in the 10th to lift the Redlegs into the NL lead. Tom Acker shut out the Giants for the last two innings to win his third game.

Al Smith's double scored Jim Busby with Cleveland's winning run and gave Early Wynn his fourth win of the year. Tito Francona and Ray Moore homered for the Orioles.

Two Old Pros Are Studying One-Day Wonder

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (UP). — Two old pros — Ben Hogan and Sam Snead — set out together today to determine wheather newcomer Paul Harney is the man to beat out for the 1957 Greenbrier Open golf championship or merely a "one - day wonder."

Harney, a shy young shotmaker from Worcester, Mass., definitely was the man they had to catch as the field of 47 teed off for the second round. He showed them the way Thursday with a sensational seven-under-par 63.

Hogan's putter and his 45-year-old legs held up for him and the bantam Texas finished with a 65 — two strokes behind Harney. Snead rallied from a jittery start and carded a 66. This tied him for third with 26-year-old Billy Casper of Bonita, Calif.

Three men — Dick Mayer of La Jolla, Calif., Al Besselink of Grossinger, N. Y., and Johnny Pott of Shreveport, La. — were breathing down their necks with 67's. And Jack Grout of Columbus, Ohio, and Gay Player of Louisville, Ky., were bracketed right behind them with 68's.

Ted Williams Awaits Action On Latest Tantrum

BOSTON (UP). — Boston Red Sox slugger Ted Williams today awaited American League action on his latest dispiay of temperament—carelessly heaving a bat in disgust at fouling out.

An umpire's report on the incident Wednesday was forwarded to league President Will Haridge in Chicago. A league decision whether to fine or reprimand Williams, or both, was expected shortly.

The bat—flinging episode, provoked by the star hitter's batting slump, was in violation of league rules and a directive issued recently by Harridge, who reportedly was alarmed that a bat might bounce into the stands and injure someone.

The report had an immediately soothing affect on the fiery Williams, who kept a firm grip on his bat though he struck out three times in a row Thursday before getting a fluke double. He carried the club back to the dugout.

TODAY'S . . .

SPORT PARADE

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP). — Sleepy-looking Hank Aaron of the Milwaukee Braves has the whole National League wide awake today to the fact that he may become the best right-handed hitter in baseball.

"He has the potential, that's for sure," glows manager Fred Haney. "And he's not even near his peak yet."

Certain it is anyhow, that the silent, somnolent 23-year-old from Mobile, Ala., is one of those "head and shoulders" ballplayers who immediately stands out over the rest of the field.

Birdie Tebbetts of the rival Cincinnati Redlegs naturally won't concede anything to the Milwaukee mauler, figuring that his own Frank Robinson is a good bet as any to become the next perpetual batting champion. But while Birdie's man is a fine hitter most baseball men contend that Aaron has him stopped six ways from the jack.

It seems strange, at first glance, that most of baseball's current top hitters are left - handed batsmen. This crew includes such as Ted Williams, Stan Musial, Yogi Berra and the switch-hitting Mickey Mantle.

There are two reasons for this apparent phenomenom. One is that the left-handed hitter has an advantage in beating out the close ones because he is a step or more closer to first base after hitting the ball. The other is that most major league pitchers are right handers, giving them an edge over right - handed batters.

Yet Aaron predicted last spring that he thought he could lead the league in batting — and then did it with a .328 average.

◆ ◆ ◆

STARTED IN 1952.

He started in Eau Claire in 1952 becoming the Northern League rookie of the year with a .336 average. The next season, at Jacksonville, he led the Sally League with a .362 mark and was named the loop's most valuable player.

As a major leaguer, after only two seasons in organized ball it took him some time to get his feet on the ground, batting "only" .280 in 1954 and then rising to .314 in 1955 before winning the batting title last season. Right now pitchers fear him worse than a sore elbow.

"The next time I face him," said Don Newcombe of the Dodgers, "I'm gonna throw the ball under the plate. That's the only way to keep him from hitting it."

Calumet Farm's Iron Liege Heads Preakness Lineup

BALTIMORE (UP). — Calumet Farm's Iron Liege, the Kentucky Derby winner, headed the probable lineup when the entry box for Saturday's $100,000 added Preakness Stakes closed today for the second of the Triple Crown classics.

Expected to round out the seven-hourse field were Wheatley Stable's Bold Ruler, Clifford Lussky's Federal Hill, Roslyn Farm's Inswept, Mrs. Jules Schwartz' Nah Hiss, Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Promised Land and D. M. Stable's Inside Tract.

Iron Liege, Bold Ruler, the beaten Kentucky Derby favorite, and Federal Hill, the Kentucky Derby pacemaker, dominated the small field. The others did not run in the Churchill Downs classic two weeks ago.

Not since Citation in 1948 has a three-year-old been able to win the Kentucgy Derby, the Preakness and the Belmont Stakes, to be run June 15 this year. Iron Liege was a strong favorite at 4-5 to move a step closer to that goal by adding a garland of black-eyed susans to his blanket of roses.

The race will be telecast and broadcast by CBS.

Rival owners and trainers, well aware their horses face a difficult task, nevertheless feel they have a chance to win at least part of the total purse of $113,800 and possibly be on the receiving end of the presentation ceremony. Second place is worth $25,000, third $15,000 and fourth $7,500.

NEWS FROM HOLLYWOOD

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UP).—Not all the glamour in Glitterville falls within camera range. Some of the curviest cuties can be found working off stage.

Take Larri Thomas, for instance. She's a beautiful blonde dancing girl who for the past few months has been on the no-lens side of the cameras as assistant director to Stanley Donen.

As far as anyone knows, Larri is the first femmine assistant dictor in film annals.

An assistant's job is primarily concerned with getting actors and extras before the cameras at the right time, feeding cues to performers, and keeping things quiet for the sound track. It's a thankless task — equivalent to a top sergeant.

"I like it — I think," Larri says. "But it's kind of confusing giving orders instead of taking them."

Larri, who's only 24, used to work in front of the cameras and still hasn't given up the glamour routine.

"I expect to be dancing and acting again right after this picture. Meanwhile, it's nice to acquire some experience that might carry me through the lean periods and also might help out when my legs give out."

Larri is as surprised as anyone that she wound up giving cues and plotting camera movements. She had just completed a tour with "Guys and Dolls," in which she did a specialty dance, when Warner Brothers called her in for a conference with Donen.

"I thought he was going to offer me a role in The Pajame Game," she smiled. "But he didn't. He asked if I thought I could assist him.

"I said yes before I could say no, and here I am."

Blonde and long-stemmed, Larri is married to actor John Bromfield. She began her career in Wayne, Pa., by doing television commercials.

"After that I moved to Hollywood chorus lines and finally to specialty work," she said. "I've been photographed for magazines so many times I automatically smile whenever a flashbulk goes off."

Donen is one of Larri's fans. Usually a director gets gray hair attempting to round up his actors for a scene. But his assistant is such a charmer that when she walks on the set every male extra in the cast follows her on stage.

"She should make a career of being an assistant," he said. "It would speed up shooting time by several days on every picture."

Woman's View

NEW YORK (UP).—Mrs. Barney Ross, who divorced her husband while he was a narcotics addict only to remarry him two years later, believes her action helped him get the "monkey off his back."

"If I had to do it over, I still would do the same thing," said Cathy Ross, whose husband boxed his way to two world championship titles.

"I believe Barney would have beaten the habit without me," she continued. "The same thing that made him a champion would have taken over eventually.

◆ ◆ ◆

NEDDED JOLT.

"But I think he needed the jolt. As long as he thought he would not lose the wife and daughter he loved, I don't think he realized how sick he was. Love can be only so much help to the other person."

The story of Ross' fight to shake the narcotics habit, of his marriage to Cathy Howlett, a former Ziegeld Follies dancer, and of his career in the ring and in the Marine Corps in World War II is told in a movie, "Monkey on my back," to be released in June.

Ross, former lightweight and welterweight champion, met Cathy while she was dancing in an Ed Wynn musical in Chicago. A month after their marriage, he was on his way to the Pacific war theater.

◆ ◆ ◆

HOLDS STAR.

Ross, holder of the Silver Star for bravery, was wounded on Guadacanal in 1943 and returned to the United States. He and Cathy and her daufhter Noreen, by a previous marriage, settled in Los Angeles.

She explained that her husband's craving for morphine the monkey on his back fegan in the hospital while he was recuperating from shrapnel wounds and malaria acquired in the war.

"It still hurts to talk about those terrible years," she said. "It may seem strange, but it took me a long time to realize he was a victim of the drug habit. I felt a horrified shock.

"The worst of it was I wanted to help him, but didn't know how."

NEW RING SAYS HE'S MINE, GIRLS'

NEW YORK (UP). — One jewelry manufacturer has decided that men, too, should wear engagement rings.

The firms (Feature Ring Co.) is manufacturing an "acceptance ring" — a diamong engagement ring coordinated with the style of the one a man gives his girl.

Henry Peterson, president of the film, said the acceptance ring was although fitting — that, after all, "many men currently wear and are proud of diamond rings; now they can wear a diamond ring which helps them declare their love."

Who pays for the acceptance ring?

She does.

Regulations Of Agriculture Rules Redrafted

By NEIL MacNEIL
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP). — The Agriculture Department has redrafted its rules and regulations to make plain it has no intention of censoring agricultural films and TV programs.

The action was taken after a House information subcommittee accused the department of, in effect, threatening censorship of films and TV programs not following the department's policy lines.

The films and TV shows involved deal with farming and agriculture on which the producers request department help and information.

Subcommittee Chairman John E. Moss (D-Calif.), in a letter to Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson, praised the department for rules changes and its announced "open door" policy on departmental information.

Moss told Benson that the changes "specifically exempts news photographers from any possible departmental censorship."

The rules changes also cancelled a prohibitionu to which the subcommittee objected forbidding any sponsorship of movie or TV films which the department helped produce by manufacturers of alcoholic beverages.

The department denied emphatically that it ever intended to impose censorship or any restriction on departmental information.

But it said that it was perhaps best to alter its regulations to make certain that this was plainly clear. It also said it was pleased to "restate the department's continuing policy to make information freely available."

Key Senators Vow To Defend Defense Budget

By RAYMOND LAHR
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP). — Key senators vowed today to defend President Eisenhower's defense budget if necessary against a possible $2,500,000,000 slash by the House.

The senators, who did not wish to be identified at present, foresaw the posibility of a cut in the $36,200,000,000 defense budget of about a billion dollars.

But they said there was no chance that the Senate would go along with a $2,500,000,000 cut should the House pass it or with any reduction in missile and aircraft production programs.

The House Apporpriations Committee had been reported ready to proopse the big cut next week including reductions in the missiles and aircraft programs. However, some informed sources have said much of the cut involved only bookkeeping reductions that would not affect buying military equipment.

That left the possibility of a new fight over defense funds open while a series of other budget batties roared on:

—Congress sent to the White House the first regular appropriation bill of the session carrying $3,884,927,000 to operate the Post Office and Treasury departments and the U. S. Tax Court. The bill was cut $80,364,000—$58,000,000 of it from postal requests. The postal cut virtually assured new reductions in postal services in July.

—The Senate called up for action a slashed $613,584,290 appropriations bill for the Commerce Department. However, many of the cuts made by the Senate Appropriations Committee were bookkeeping adjustments.

—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson looked to the Senate to overturn a House vote that cut the heart out of the billion dollar soil bank. His chances appeared good. Benson denounced the House action as "false economy."

State Police Plan Tests To Identify Mother

CRAWFORDSVILLE Ind. (UP) —State police today planned fingerprint tests to identify a mother whose son admitted he murdered her and buried her dismembered remains in an abandoned farmhouse.

Authorities Thursday arrested Clifford Watson, 41, Cincinnati, on a tip from a neighbor who saw his picture in a deltective magazine.

Watson, a former Evansville, Ind., filling station operator, admitted he shot and killed his mother in 1954 and told authorities where her body could be found.

Deputies, on information from Cincinnati police, dug beneath the floor of an old farmhouse near here and uncovered the remains of a woman believed to be Mrs. Pearl Hartlage, 56, Evansville.

Police said Watson readily admitted the slaying, but said it occurred accidentally during a scuffle with his mother at a gasoline station they operated.

A number of Marine aviation squadrons served on board naval aircraft carriers during World War II.

First Nuclear Test Reset For Early Saturday

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP).—The Atomic Energy Commission's first nuclear test of its spring-summer series, twice postponed because of unfavorable weather and the danger of radioactive fallout, has been rescheduled for 5:50 a. m. p. d. t. Saturday.

The nuclear device was to have been set off at the same time Thursday from atop a 500-foot tower on the southern Nevada test site 75 miles northwest of here, but was postponed for the second stright day.

The AEC said winds blowing towards the southeast from the test site would have strewn radioactive fallout across a long, narrow area embracing Las Vegas, Boulder City and the Indian Springs Air Force Base.

The weather outlook for Saturday morning is "more promising" that it has been for th past several days, the AEC said.

tons of potash and industrial goods for Japan, but Israel officials said this would not constitute a true test since the ship is owned by a Norwegian firm and is under charter to an American firm.

At the same time Israeli government circles expressed disappointment in President Eisenhower's Wednesday statement that Egyptian interference with Israeli shipping would give Israel a case for the international court.

They said this would cause delay, would be just what Egypt wants and might conceal the fact that the Security Council already has ruled that Israel has the same right as other nations to use the canal.

CITED FOR GOLDEN DEEDS—Eight-year-old Charles Neil Gibbs Jr., of Boston, Mass., is awarded the United Cerebral Palsy's Golden Deed Crusade Medal by Gen. Randolph McC. Pate, Marine Corps commandant, during ceremonies at Corps headquarters in Washington. Charles, son of a Marine master sergeant, has traveled thousands of miles to aid the 600,000 victims of cerebral palsy in the U.S. Until two years ago the 1956 Cerebral Palsy poster boy was unable to walk. He now gets around with the aid of crutches and braces.

Dusting Plane Forced Down During Rainstorm

Bill Hays of Dallas, piloting a plane for the Farmers Dusting Service of Dallas, made a forced landing in George Cameron's pasture, on the Northwest outskirts of the city Thursday when he got lost during a rainstorm. Deputy Sheriffs Jim Standerfer and Robert Ramsey, who investigated the forced landing, report slight damage to the plane. Hays was uninjured.

The pilot was enroute to Bonham from Commerce, but lost his direction during the rainstorm, and after circling the area for a time, was forced to make the landing.

Tom Allen Passes Away Friday In City-County Hospital

Tom Allen, 74, resident of McKinney all of his life died at 5 a. m. Friday in the City-County Hospital following a heart attack. He had been in frail health for several years.

He was born in McKinney April 4, 1883 son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Allen and he was a member of the St. Peter's Episcopal church.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Tom Allen, of McKinney and five sisters: Mrs. A. M. Scott Sr., Mrs. Fannie A. Mitchell, Mrs. Edith Keller, Mrs. Roy Kirkpatrick, all of, McKinney and Mrs. Lud Crockett, of Dallas.

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a. m. Saturday in the Turtine-Jackson Chapel conducted by John Barry, pastor of the East Christian Church, with burial in Pecan Grove Cemetery.

Pallbearers: Raymond Wilkerson, of Ennis, Alfred M. Scott, Alfred James Allen, Howard Striplin, Charles Rominger and A. Q. Forte.

Teen Age Road-e-o To Be Held Saturday

McKinney Jaycees were completing arrangements Friday for the Teen Age Road-e-o to be staged here Saturday morning at 8:30 o'clock on the parking lot of the McKinney Pants Manufacturing Company. Teen age boys and girls of McKinney have taken written tests the past two days from which 50 top scorers will be named to participate in the elmiination driving exercises Saturday.

The two winners here Friday will compete in regional exercises at Greenville in June. State contests will be held in Sherman June 20, 21 and 22, with the finals in Washington, D. C. on August 13, 14 and 15.

Dwayne Howell, general chairman for the sponsoring Jaycees, urges the general public to attend the driving exercise Sunday morning. There are no charges.

Judges will be representatives from the City Police and Sheriff's Departments, Sam Purtle of the State Highway Patrol and Charles Qualls, teacher of Driver Education in Boyd High School. Sgt. Everett Brandon of Sherman, of the State Department of Public Safety, will present the awards to the winners.

50,000 March In Lincoln Memorial Day Parade

WASHINGTON (UP). — An estimated 50,000 persons march to the Lincoln Memorial today to pray for "racial justice" and civil rights legislation to protect America's minorities.

They were taking part in the huge Negro "Prayer Pilgrimage For Freedom," rally which attracted participants from all parts of the nation.

Although the meeting was primarily a religious one, one unwelcome group apparently planned to horn in. U. S. Communists were reported to have put top priority on infiltrating the pligrimage to exploit it for propaganda purposes.

• • •

MARKS SCHOOL DECISION.

The meeting was designed to commemorate the third anniversary of the Supreme Court decision banning school segregation. It also planned as a protest against violence to Negroes in the South and a plea for passage of civil rights legislation at ths session of Congress.

Robert E. McLaughlin, president of the three-man board of commissioners of the District of Columbia, welcomed leaders of the pilgrimage and handed over the city's keys in ceremonies at his office.

Pilgrimage co-chairmen are the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. leader of the Montgomery, Ala., bus boycott; A. Philip Randolph, president of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, and Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association For the Advancement of Colored People.

• • •

STRONG BACKING.

The meeting has been endorsed by Catholic, Protestant and Jewish leaders, and a host of labor organizations.

The formal three-hour cremony on the steps of the Lincoln Memorial featured speeches by King, Reps. Adam Clayton Powell D-N. Y. and Charles C. Diggs Jr., D-Mich. and others. Spiritual singer Mahalia Jackson was scheduled to sing a hymn.

A wreath was to be laid at the foot of the stately Lincoln statue by James and Theresa Gordon, Negro children who briefly attended a white school at Clay, Ky., in the face of mob threats. They now live in Fort Wayne, Ind.

Fatal Shooting Of Negro Rapist To Be Aired

HOUSTON (UP). — The fatal shooting of a Negro rapist in a patrol car—and incident that has touched off nerve-wracking repercussions for two Houston families—goes before a grand jury today.

District Attorney Dan Walton was to present evidence in the killing of Claudis Clyde Thompson, a Negro ex-convict, before the Harris county grand jury as "a matter of routine."

Thompson was killed by a blast from a sawed-off shotgun in the hands of Police Inspector Joe Clark while the Negro was riding handcuffed in a police car last Monday.

Clark said the shooting was accidental and occured when the car hit a series of bumps in the street. He said Thompson, a few minutes before, confessed robbing three teenage youths and raping a 15-year old white girl.

Anonymous telephone threats since the fatal shooting have kept Clark and his family, and another R. J. Clark family on edge for the past week. The two Clarks are not related and the second Clark, a private flyer, had no connection with the shooting.

Inspector Clark said his wife has received several of the threatening calls, but threats to the family of pilot Clark—apparently a case of mistaken identity.—.have been especially distressing.

"One of the calls shows that our house is being watched," Mrs. Mary Clark, wife of the pilot, said. "The man told me I had only a short time to live and he gave me the license number of our car."

The caller, she said, also threatened to kill her 18-year-old daughter.

Commissioner To Keep Bollworm Control Flexible

AUSTIN (UP). — Agriculture Commissioner John White has promised to keep the pink bollworm control laws as flexible as possible for farmers whose cotton planting has been delayed by rain.

White said his department faces a "great dillema." He said cotton planting conditions in 25 central and southeastern counties are in doubt and the deadline for seeding is May 20.

The deadline was extended from May 10 to May 20 for another 22 South Texas counties but he said five of the 22 were still in serious trouble.

White said a close check was being made of field conditions in affected areas and said he will announce his decision on further planting deadline extensions later this week.

White said farmers have had "a little too much rain at the wrong time."

"We must give the cotton farmers every consideration in allowing them to get their cotton planted. Yet, if we relax our control rules too much, we face the prospect of a major pink bollworm infestation."

Dr. Walker Is Guest Speaker To Lions Club

The McKinney Lions Club and guests were treated to a review of Dr. Philip Whitman Walker's famous speech "Hounds and Men" at Wednesday's luncheon.

The meeting was held in the Fellowship room of the First Christian Church, at which time the ladies served a delightful luncheon of barbecue chicken and all the trimmings.

Lion Leroy Richardson, president-elect, presided over the meeting in the absence of President Pat Simpson.

A number of guests were introduced by Liontamer F. V. Fagg as follows: Robert Lee Oates of Arcadia, Calif., guest of Lion Charles W. Graves Sr. R. A. Huffheines Sr. and R. A. Huffheines Jr., of Dallas, guests of Dr. Russell Wilson; Dr. R. O. Price, guest of Lion C. D. Taylor; Hon. Wallace Hughston, guest of Lion Chas. M. Cooper, Dr. T. R. Leen, guest of Lion George James; J. M. Foster Sr., guest of Lioness Frances Stogdill; Rev. Baldwin Stribling, and James R. Dowdy, guests of Lion W. C. Dowdy; Jim Caldwell, guest of Lion Elton Riggs and Bud Norton, guest of Lion Garner Jones.

Announcements concerning the Jaycee Teen Age Road-e-o, Saturday, by Lion George Coulter, and the Lions sponsored rodeo by Lion E. A. Randles, were made. Lion Clifford Byrd, general chairman for the recent "Mop and Broom" sale, expressed the appreciation of the club to a group of High School boys for their assistance during the sale.

Lions W. C. Dowdy and D. F. Douglas were the program committee for the day, the former introducing the speaker.

Dr. Walker, a Methodist preacher who is district superintendent for the Sherman-McKinney district, has a wide reputation as an author, hunter and minister. His "Hounds and Men" address has been compiled in booklet form and is in demand throughout the country. His program before the Lions Wednesday was the 154th time it has been given.

The speaker, who mixed much humor with his down-to-earth philosophy, gave the background of the address which originated while he was a member of the Denton Rotary Club.

Due to lack of time Wednesday, Dr. Walker condensed his talk from a two-hour address into a 30-minute one, however he brought out many interesting facts on his story of adventure in which he exalted a good hound and a true man.

In conclusion he made this comparison "if a man wants to be as good as the hound, he must (1) have an early start; (2) break to his game; (3) remain true to his track; (4) know that life is never found at the beginning, but only until he gives his all; (5) and know the way home. He elaborated upon each thought.

Dr. Walker had with him several copies of the book which members of the club purchased. Dr. Walker received a hearty ovation from the club for his most inspiring, elevating and educational address.

The Lions voted to sponsor Homer Adams of the Plano Lions Club, for Deputy District Governor.

'War Criminals' Are Released

TOKYO (UP). — Six Japanese "war criminals" released by the Communist Chinese were turned over to Japanese repatriation officials in North China Wednesday, the Communist New China News Agency reported today.

The Reds said one of the six had completed his prison sentence while the other five were freed because of illness or good conduct in prison. The prisoners were repatriated in Tientsin, the agency said.

Is The White House Haunted? Some Say Yes-No

WASHINGTON (UP).—Is the White House haunted?

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty hinted—or did he?—that possibly a ghost or two flourishes in the old mansion despite its recent renovation.

A reporter asked Hagerty on ABC's TV "Press Conference" whether — as an Irishman, of course — —he had ever heard or seen anything of ghosts in the White House.

"No, I haven't," Hagerty said. "But seriously the President has told me more than once that the presence that he feels more than anyone else is Abraham Lincoln when he is in the White House."

Hagerty said, however, President Eisenhower has not heard Lincoln.

The reporter who asked Hagerty the question noted he has read that Queen Wilhelmina of The Netherlands met Lincoln face to face in the White House.

He said he also has read that Mrs. Roosevelt saw ghosts.

Moreover, Mrs. Lincoln herself was reported to have insisted that often at night she heard the ghosts of Andrew Jackson swearing and Thomas Jefferson playing his violin.

And that's not all. She also said sotto voice she heard old John Tyler wooing his 20-year old second wife.

FOREIGN NEWS . . .
COMMENTARY

By CHARLES M. M'CANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

There are indications that a big split has developed between Red China and Soviet Russia on the proper relationships between Communist countries.

It has been known for a long time that Wladyslaw Gomulka, the Polish Communist leader, has received strong and perhaps decisive support from Red China in his fight against Soviet domination.

It now appears that Mao Tse-Tung has warned Soviet leaders that they had better recognize the right of East European countries to handle their own affairs if they want to keep out of trouble.

Dispatches from Warsaw, the Polish capital, indicate that Gomulka regards Mao and Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-lai as his chief supporters against any new attempt by the Russians to get Poland back under Soviet domination.

◆ ◆ ◆

MAO CONGRATULATED GOMULKA.

Mao sent a message of warm congratulation to Gomulka at the time of the Polish revolt last October.

It was disclosed also at that
It was disclosed also at that time that Mao and Chou strongly disapproved of Russia's brutal suppression of the Hungarian revolt.

Later, they half - heartedly said that Russian intervention was justified because the Hungarian revolt was inspired by "imperialists."

But the Chinese leaders have consistently supported Gomulka, who managed to win a great measure of independence from Russian domination because—unlike the Hungarians — he succeeded in keeping anti-Russian feeling under control.

Gomulka's position was materially strengthened last January when Chou visited Poland.

Last month, Polish Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz paid a visit to Peiping, the Chinese Communist capital.

At that time, Mao accepted an invitation from Cyrankiewicz to visit Poland in September, incident to a long-set visit to Moscow.

Cyrankiewicz obtained from the Chinese leaders a new endorsement of Poland's bid for independence.

Apparently as the result of Cyrankiewicz's visit to Peiping, it has now been disclosed in Warsaw that Chou made a speech last February in which he openly condemned the Russian intervention in Hungary.

◆ ◆ ◆

EXPECTED MORE REVOLTS.

In that speech, Chou said that Russia must expect further revolts in Communist satellite countries if it tried to dominate their affairs.

Chou also said that Communist governments individually must give more freedom to their peoples.

Soviet leaders have reason to be worried over the attitude of the Chinese Communist leaders.
Mao and Chou are the top men in the biggest Communist - ruled country in the world. Red China has 600 million people, three times the number of those in the Soviet Union.

Red China was long regarded as a sort of Russian satellite. That this idea was completely incorrect became evidence at the time of Josef Stalin's death. It is now recognized that Chou regards himself as the equal, if not the superior, of any Russian as an authority on Communist doctrine.

Lightning Bolt Strikes Field Killing Player

JONESBORO, Tenn. (UP). — A lightning bolt cracked across a baseball field during a high school game Wednesday, killing a 15-year-old player and injuring five others.

Michael Watson, 15, a member of the Lamar, Tenn., high school team, died soon after he was struck. Of the five injured, one was kept at Johnson City Memorial Hospital for treatment of burns on both legs. The others were treated and released, including umpire Warren Miller, 35.

Witnesses said a "horizontal bolt" of lightning swept across the field in the top of the seventh inning. It toppled the pitcher, four in fielders and the umpire to the ground like "ten pins," a spectator said.

The game, between Lamar and Boone's Creek high schools was "being rushed along" because of threatening weather when the lightning struck.

Sen. Hardeman Applauded For Senate Talk

AUSTIN (UP). — State Sen. Dorsey Hardeman was loudly applauded when he lashed out at President Eisenhower and British Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery for criticizing Gen. Robert E. Lee.

The San Angelo lawmaker said Eisenhower was "not worthy" to unlace the shoes of the Confederate general.

Hardeman, a native of Tennessee, directed his sharpest criticism at Montgomery in the Senate chamber. He bitterly denounced the Briton as a "peanut-type political military commander."

He spoke almost an hour on statements made Sunday by Montgomery and the President at Gettysburg, Pa., that they would have "sacked" both Lee and the Union commander, Gen. George G. Meade, for their direction of the battle of Gettysburg.

Speaking about the President, Hardeman said: "A native Texan that would raise his voice in criticism of Robert E. Lee, whose shoes he is not worthy to unlace—I'm talking about President Eisenhower."

Loud applause greeted Hardeman as he sat down.

He said he was speaking of Eisenhower "not as President, but as an American host to a foreign visiting dignitary."

"As taxpayers we are paying for the entertainment of Viscount Bernard Montgomery," Hardeman told the Texas Senate.

"Yes, he was the lord of Alamein — made so by the great supply of American resources placed at his command," he said.

Hardeman charged that Montgomery's "failure" while in command of forces in Holland led to the Allies' setback when the Germans broke through in the Battle of the Bulge in December, 1944.

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health.
HENRY A. HOLLE, M.D., Commissioner

AUSTIN, Tex. — With the signing into law of House Bill 434 early this month, the Texas State Department of Health became the official planning agency for the administration of urban renewal advance planning funds to cities under 25,000 population in Texas.

The law permits the State Department of Health to arrange for planning assistance for these municipalities and to arrange for planning advances and grants from the Housing and Home Fiance Agency under the provisions of the Federal Housing Act of 1954 or from other sources.

The planning and allocation of funds is the first step in improvement of health, social and economic standards of thousands of Texas citizens through urban renewal.

The urban renewal program of assistance, authorized in the Housing Act of 1954, carries out the recommendations of President Eihenhower for broadcast clearance and prevention of slums and blight and for improving and conserving good neighborhoods.

These special aids can be, and are being applied to the problems of communities of any size, from small towns in rural areas to the largest metropolitan centers. Larger cities may go ahead on their own.

Scarcely a Texas community has not felt the sourge of slums. Slums have spread so far, their costs have become so great, that they are now a problem of national dimensions and concern.

Slums are the final product of a continuing process of decay that, in various stages, affects a large part of the community and threatens all of it—decay that comes largely from civic neglect and inaction.

A national study found that blighted areas were forming faster than old ones were being cleared, which justifies assistance for communities which face up to the problem of neghborhood decay and undertake long-range programs directed to its prevention.

The new law will make it possible for the Texas State Department of Health to work with smaller cities for this planning and will allocate federal funds enabling only the highest caliber master planning to prevent further blight.

Only promit action and a willingness to help themselves to keep a healthy environment is needed by cities of under 25,000 population to receive this assistance.

WASHINGTON (UP). — The National Geographic Society came out today with a confidential expose on the bedroom habits of frogs.

The hush-hush facts turned out to be far worse than many frog haters believed.

The usually staid Georgraphic Society apparently felt compelled to disclose the wanton truth because of the cavorting of a crowd of suburban Washington frogs in Brentwood, Mr.

Eighty-three-year-old Mrs. Mary Harman complained several weeks ago to Brentwood Mayor William H. Smith that the frogs in a neighbor's pond were "disorderly and carrying on" every night until midnight. The mayor—clearly a romantic—said he liked frogs.

However, the Geographic Society made clear in its expose that Mrs. Harman had something to complain about.

It said each species of boy frog uses a distinctive mating call during the springtime to attract the girl frogs of the same species. It noted that frogs are very particular about what species they date.

"Some calls resemble the sounds of quacking ducks, barking dogs, bleating goats, whooping Indians or a regiment of men beating tin pans," it said.

Of course, the society said, this goes on until the boys and girls get together.

But that's not all.

The society said night-prowling researchers armed with tape recorders have reported four other types of frog noises besides the mating call. It described them as the "warning chirp, warning vibration, fright scream and rain song."

"The last is a singing-in-the-shower type of thing apparently just for fun," it said.

The society said spooning frogs have been accused of lots of things including keeping a Missouri farmer's hogs slim.

"Every time that blamed bullfrog gives out with a bellow the pigs thing it's someone calling them to eat," the farmer said. "They're running all the fat off their bones answering his call."

On the other hand, the society said, many people agree with Mayor Smith.

200 Houstonians Claim Victims Of 'KangarooCourt'

HOUSTON (UP).—An investigator from Bandera, Tex., was in Houston today rounding up statements from some 200 Houstonians who claimed they were victims of a "Kangaroo Court."

The investigator, representing the Bandera Chamber of Commerce, was Harvey Kilgore, owner of Bandera's Frontier hotel.

Last week Jack D. Masor, spokesman for the Houston group which attended Bandera's annual "Stompede" celebration, sent a letter of protest to Attorney General Will Wilson.

Kilgore said he was in Houston to "dig to the bottom" of why a Bandera sheriff went on an arresting spree two weeks ago. The Houstonians complained they were unjustly arrested and fined.

"Ninety per cent of the charges were phoney," Masor said.

Kilgore said the Bandera Chamber of Commerce was also questioning Sheriff Bryan Miller of Bandera to find out what happened.

Two Teen-Aged Divorcees Charge Four With Rape

LEPANTO, Ark. (UP).—Two teen-aged divorcees charged today they were raped by two men and two boys who lured them into an automobile by promising to overtake a car the girls thought was ocupied by singer Elvis Presley.

Held here on open charges were Arlen Eugen Vaden 27, and Carl Davis, 27 both of Truman, Ark., a 17-year-old Cedar Falls, Iowa, boy and a 15-year-old Jonesboro, Ark., boy.

The girls, 18 and 17, both of Memphis, were watching a Cotton Carnival parade Tuesday night at Memphis when they thought they saw Presley ride by in a convertible.

A few minutes later, a car containing two men and two boys drove up and urged them "to hop in and we'll catch up with Presley." The singer was not in Memphis.

The girls said they were driven to a country road outside Lepanto and assaulted.

DAV Chapter Wins National Recognition

McKinney Chapter No. 38 has won specal recognition from National Headquarters of the Disabled American Veterans for surpassing its last year's membership. As of May 1 the Chapter had a tota lof 55 members.

The DAV National Commander Joseph F. Burke of Bayonne, N. J., sent a special message today from DAV National Headquarters in Cincinnati in which he congratulated the officers and members of the Chapter for increasing its strength to work in behalf of the war handicapped.

Burke, who is an arm amputee of World War II combat experince, said: "I have never forgotten the boost given my own rehabilitation by the encouragement and guidance of the DAV. There are scores of disable dveterans in your area who need the encouragement and guidance of the DAV. There are scores of disabled veterans in your area who need the encourgament and guidance that can give them the big boost on the way back to an active, useful and happy life.

"Only through a strong DAV membership can we protect and assure this fine rehabilitation asistance and your membership increase is a bright note in our fight to maintain this program."

The DAV National Commander urged the local Chapter to continue its efforts and appealed to all disabled veterans in this area to join with the DAV in its work.

Generally speaking, American veterans who have been wounded, gassed, injured or disable while serving in the armed forces of the United States in America's wars, are eligible for DAV membership. This eligibility includes, in addition to World War I veterans, those who have served in the armed forces at any time between December 7, 1941, and the conclusion of the Korean campaign.

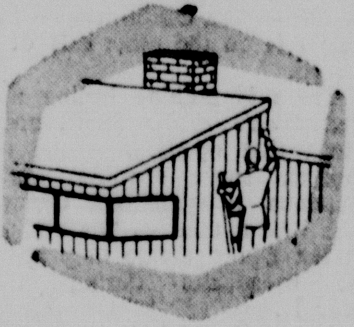
Velva-Grain
REDWOOD FINISH



Protects, Beautifies, Restores REDWOOD!

Jones-Blair Velva-Grain Redwood Finish gives redwood extra resistance to discoloration — won't let weather fade or discolor it. Velva-Grain prevents the growth of black, dingy mildew, too — restores old redwood to its original beauty, even though an inferior finish may have been previously used. Best of all, Velva-Grain produces a natural, low-luster finish that enhances the beauty of new redwood and brings back the natural color and grain of old redwood.

BEST BY TEST

Under carefully supervised tests, Velva-Grain was continuously exposed to the weather for many months along with other leading redwood finishes. Only the redwood panels finished with Jones-Blair Velva-Grain did not yellow, chalk or discolor.

Velva-Grain was developed especially for the Southwest by Jones-Blair chemistry. Come in and let us show you Velva-Grain and other fine J-B paints.

APPROACHES TO . . .

HIGH FIDELITY

By PRESTON M'GRAW
United Press Staff Correspondent

Many persons, whose musical appetites were satisfied by Guy Lombardo and Lawrence Welk find themselves turning toward the classics when they get accustomed to using high fidelity reproducing equipment.

Recorded popular music, when you can hear all of it, simply does not have the tonal and instrumental meat in it that classical musical literature does.

At the same time, many of the classical composers and particularly the older ones, operated under strict musical ground rules that much of it leaves a listener without a classical background cold.

◆ ◆ ◆

OVERALL SUPERIORITY.

In other words, it takes them too long to get to the punch line for persons taking a largely aural approach to music. Many modern composers, flouting the old standards, produce music with a superior overall brilliance.

An illustration of this is voume 2 of Decca's "New Directions in Music and Sound" DL-9861, 12-inch LP, RIAA curve. It is a recording, made in Europe by Deutsch Grammophon of Music by Werner Egk and K. A. Hart-Mann.

Egk and Hartmann are contemporary German Composers. Egk's "French Suite After Rameau" and Hartmann's "Symphony No. 6 for Large Orchestra" are played by the Rias Symphony of Berlin, conducted by Ferenc Fricsay.

◆ ◆ ◆

ALL PUNCH LINES.

Egk's suite was composed in straight forward type. But Hartmann's symphony is practically all punch lines, with brilliant bursts of sounds, rols of kettle drums and reed solos.

The recording is superior technicall. The music has a rare bite and presence.

MGM has a new record of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony E-3509, 12-inch, LP, RIAA curve in the music stores. Schubert's Eighth — the Unfinished — Symphony is on the other side of the record.

There is nothing boring about Beethoven's Fifth. The four-note motif that opens it is the most famous short opening musical statement in symphonic literature. The British used its "Fate Knocks at the Door" theme in propaganda broadcasts during World War II.

◆ ◆ ◆

RECORDING WORK GOOD.

On this record, it is played by the Philharmonic Orchestra of Hamburg, conducted by Arthur Winograd. The recerding work is good.

Emory Cook has recorded New Orleans' Lizzie Miles again on a record called "Torchy Lullabies My Mother Sang Me"" 1184, 12-inch LP RIAA curve.

Lizzie had a voice, a range and sympathy with her songs to match her ample frame. On this record, she sings the old ones, like "Alexander's Ragtime Band," "Darktown Strutters' Ball," "Melancholy Baby" and "Wish I Could Shimmy Like My Sister Kate."

◆ ◆ ◆

ARRANGEMENTS NOT. NEEDED.

A good deal of Red Camp's piano and Tony Almerico's Parisian Room All-Stars are heard in bothe the foreground and background. These musicians seldom labor under the handicap of arrangements. The recording is up to Cook's standards.

He has a new LP called "Upright and Horizontal" for fanciers of Camp's piano playing. Cook 10889, RIAA curve,.

Camp took a master's degree in musica leducation from Columbia University in New York, and discovered that he didn't appreciate the big city, returned to Corpus Christi, Tex. Fortunately, through records, his way with the New Orleans style is available to listeners outside Corpus Christi.

GUESTS FOR SUPPER

CHICAGO (UP).—Robert Murphy has turned the other cheek to the rabbit kingdom. For weeks, Murphy said, everything that sprouted in his backyard garden was promptly nipped up by a family of rabbits. Murphy Wednesday took them into his house, to the delight of his daughter, Donna Lynne, 3. "I'd rather feed them a little milk," he said, "than have them eat up my whole garden."

Burglar Hits Jackpot, Leaves Calling Card

HOUSTON (UP). — A burglar hit the jackpot at the home of Dr. Ben E. Withers Wednesday night but made the mistake of leaving his "calling card" — a laundry ticket with his name on it.

Police found the laundry ticket on the floor and promptly went to the home of Jack F. Sweeney, 28, and arrested Sweeney and a roommate. Sweeney still had most of the loot.

Dr. Withers returned home at 11 p.m. to discover the house ransacked from ground floor to attic. Missing articles included clothing, silverware, rifles and shotguns, a tape recorder, radio, sewing machine.

Sweeney denied the burglary although police found Dr. Withers' hat — with his name in the band — in Sweeney's room.

INSTALLMENT

OMAHA, Neb. (UP). — The Nebraska Sheet Metal Co. received a letter from the thief after the firm was burglarized. The letter contained 50 cents and read: "For tools taken." The company figures it will take the burglar some time to finish payment at that rate. The tools taken were valued at $200.

Elm Grove Cemetery Association Holds Annual Decoration

P. P. Brown and O. E. Giles were re-elected as directors of the Elm Grove Cemetery Association Sunday when the largest crowd in years attended the annual Decoration Day Service. The group voted to continue the second Sunday in May as Decoration Day, as it has been observed for over 50 years.

Coutributions of $325 for work and upkeep were made. Hold over directors were L. Dow Hendricks, president of the board; Harry Gaither, Tom West, Randell Hendricks and Charlie Bell.

Ethiopia Prepares For Fall Election

ADDIS ABABA (UP). — Ethiopia's first general election will take place Sept. 11-Oct. 10 when an estimated 25 million Ethiopians will elect candidates by photographs.

The photopoll is necessary because millions of electors — and some candidates — are illiterate and will undergo a vast education project on the need and purpose of voting.

Millions of leaflets and handbills have been printed to describe the voting system, while travelling teams are visiting outlying villages with films and lectures. Addis Abada radio is also making frequent broadcasts.

It is estimated that less than one-tenth of potential voters can read, so registration books containing columns of thumbprints have been prepared.

Suffrage is open to all sane persons over 21 years old who are Ethiopian by birth and who have not been jailed or stripped of their civil rights. Candidates must be over 25 years old and possess at least 1,000 Ethiopian dollars (410) and immovale property worth 2,000 Ethiopian dollars.

Average per capita income is estimated at $56 (U. S.) annually.

◆ ◆ ◆

NO PARTIES.

Suggestions that the election should be conducted by animal symbols—as in India —have been rejected because candidates would all want to be represented by lions and elephants and might balk at less flattering symbols.

The secret ballot, which will elece 250 deputies from 125 electoral districts, will be carried out by dropping voting cards into boxes marked with the photographs of candidates.

Each district will elect two deputies, while towns with more than 30,000 population will have one deputy with an extra deputy for each additional 50,000 inhabitants.

The 250 deputies will all be independents, alothugh they may form political groupings after election.

The new chamber, which will be elected for a period of four years, will approve the annual budget, ratify treaties and royal proclamations and may preent new bills if supported by 10 deputies.

Emperor Haile Selassie will, however, remain absolute monarch although the election is part of his plan of pushing his people into eventual self-government.

Veteran Law Officer Dies

AUSTIN (UP).—L. G. Phares, 77, veteran law enforcement officer and first director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, died Wednesday night after an illness of several weeks.

Phares was named acting director of the DPS in 1935 when the Legislature for the first time centralized in one agency the crime detection forces of the state.

Four years later, he left the state agency to establish an organization now known as L. G. Phares Protective System.

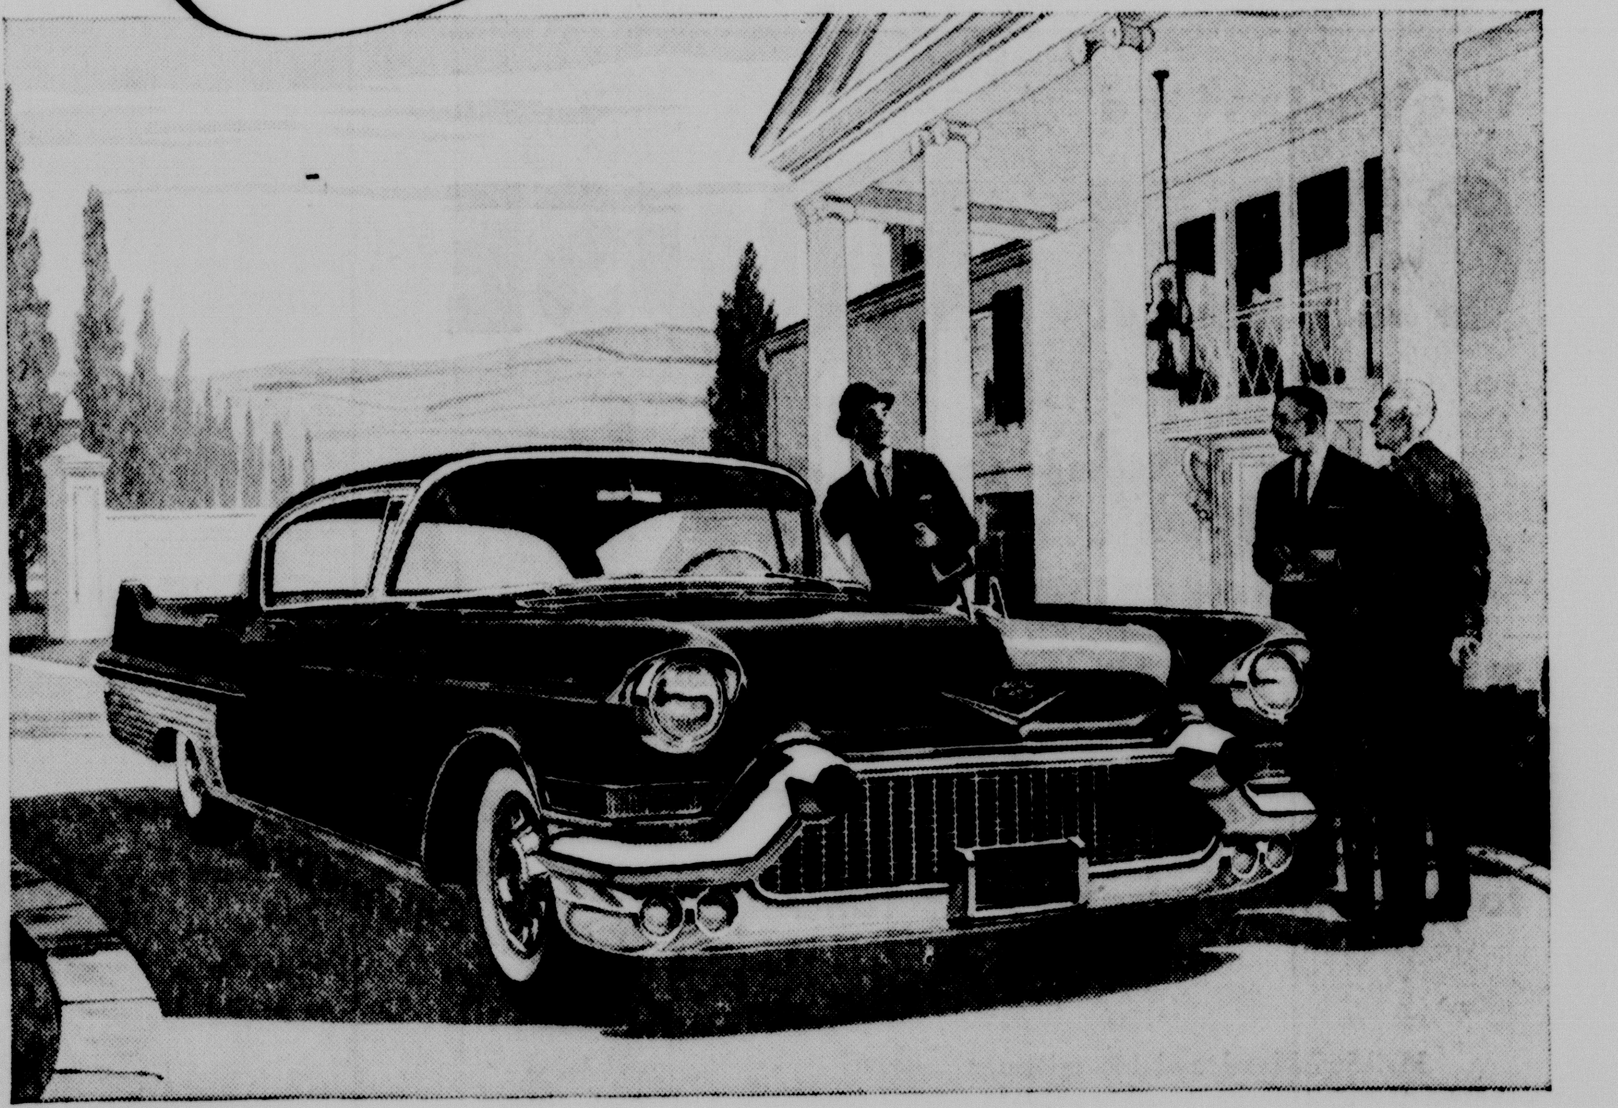
Cadillac



Third Generation at the Wheel!

"Like father, like son", the poets say.

And never was it truer than in the case of a great many fine Cadillac families.

For there are, in our land today, a number of families that currently boast as many as three generations at the wheel.

We mention this simply to underscore a great and dramatic truth about Cadillac—that, of course, is its unchanging goodness and quality.

For fifty-five years, the Cadillac name has signified one and the same thing to motorists everywhere—a motor car created at the highest level that automotive science would permit.

Over that time, Cadillac has attracted to the ranks of its owners the finest list of names to be found anywhere on the American motoring scene.

And, those who have followed the path to Cadillac in 1957 are enjoying the most abundant blessings of this ceaseless crusade for quality.

The new "car of cars", with coachcraft by Fleetwood, is beautiful and luxurious to an unprecedented degree. And its performance and handling ease are a revelation!

Certainly, the Cadillac car has now become an even wiser investment for an even wider circle of America's motorists.

If you have yet to acquaint yourself with these brilliant Cadillac virtues for 1957, your dealer will be delighted to tell you how easily you can make Cadillac a fine family custom of your own!
